

HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE NDIS CB

THE FACTS: NDIS AND HUMAN RIGHTS:

All humans have the right to be healthy, safe, and happy

The NDIS allows Australian's living with disability to access support services to help make this happen. These services are available through registered 'NDIS Providers'

The NDIS Commission protects the human rights of everyone by making sure NDIS providers are doing a good job

KEY HUMAN RIGHTS DUTIES OF THE NDIS:

1

Positive Duty

We will think about your human rights when we do things for you and make decisions

2

Participation Duty

We will help you to have your say in what we do

3

Duty of Candor

We will be honest with you. Own our mistakes, and improve from them.

WE HELP PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS BY MAKING SURE...

Your supports and services are good and protect your rights

You have ways to be a part of decisions

You can learn about your human rights, and information is easy to read

We follow the law when looking after your information

We work together with experts to make the NDIS and your supports better

We make clear ways for you to give feedback

We use data and feedback to understand what is working and how we can improve

We share what we learn with others to improve the NDIS for everyone

CHATTERBOX THERAPY SERVICES HAS A STRONG COMMITMENT TO UPHOLDING THE RIGHTS OF ALL HUMANS AND SUPPORTING THE ROLE OF THE NDIS IN PROMOTING THIS
